Uni5 RAMAYANAM - 27. Sitha's view about noble women

Sitha replies to Devi Kausalya when she spoke about nature of noble women as follows:

" Dear mother! I will follow all your words. I have been trained by my parents well about family life. My parents have taught many great lessons about husband-wife relation. You have made me to relook their advices.

Mother! Please do not misunderstand me! I will never be one among the women who follow their ignorant mind. The glittering light of moon cannot be separated from moon. Like that the path of great values cannot get separated from me.

We cannot play a Veena without strings. We cannot ride a chariot without wheels. Women may have many good children. But she can be made happy only by her true beloved husband.

Parents and children can make a woman. But it has limitation. But the bliss of happiness through right path can be given only through a good husband by his selftual teachings. This is the essence of family life. So a good husband is the real deity for a noble woman.

Many old ladies in my nation have given be the lessons about dharma. Through them I have understood the importance of a married life. So I cannot disrespect my husband!"

Jai JanakiRam!
