

SAKTHI FOUNDATION - Uni5 PERSONALITY DEVELOPMENT PROJECT

ROLE PLAYS GIVEN TO CHILDREN [Mind level]

Role plays make great transformation among the children of very young age group. It is part of our Uni5 educational system. This role play carries a good value of day to day life. The role play is also based on body, mind and intellectual part of man.

Rules for role play:

1. Children must be in a circle without touching each other.
2. The adults must take part in doing this role play first.
3. More than 3 members must not be in role play.
4. Role play is not a skit.
5. Role play is a crisp skit with a message.
6. Maximum it has extend to 3 minutes [1-6 years], 5 minutes [above 6 years]
7. The role play must carry only one message at a time.
8. You can use a probe.
9. After the role play please do not ask the child what they have understood. Wind up and go to next work.

10. What can be the role play?

Body level:

a. How to sneeze

b. How to lift a chair without any damage

Mind level:

a. How to say sorry?

b. How to behave in a circle meeting?

The role play topics have to be decided by adults which must be the latest need, latest issue in school and center.

Later this role play can be implemented by children. For young children one message can be given 3 days in a week and change. For infants [1-4 years] continuously for 1 week show one role play.

This role play can be extended to small skit by students later which must have a message about body and mind level awareness. For this they have to create their own ideas and imaginary skills. Let them use normal language, simple gestures and need not dramatize much.

Each group can present a concept once in 3 days or a week. The adults and students must note the topic and also initiate the students to follow them. First let the adults and students discuss and make a list of role plays. Through role plays children who have the visual learning skill improve their personality.